

This recommendation is long overdue and well deserved. Terri is one of those people who instantly upon meeting her and introducing your pets, you see that she harbors such a passion in caring for animals and is genuinely concerned about their well-being.

We have utilized Terri's services on multiple occasions and our kitties absolutely adore when she comes to visit. To provide some context, we have two very energetic, very needy young Bengals – as Terri has worked with Bengals in the past, we knew she'd be a great fit for their needs. It's such a plus that she's willing to come to our home to look after them so we don't have to remove them from their comfort zone while we're away – this makes a world of difference when you have animals who are used to having people presence during the day!

Terri truly caters to the individual needs of the pet. We can tell our kitties have had such a great time when we come home and they're quiet! (if you've had Bengals, you know they're talkers 😊). Not only is the time spent individualized, she provides them with all types of different toys for stimulation – now we're not talking toys we have already, we're talking toys that she makes the effort to bring with her each visit for them to play with, that she knows they will like – if that isn't personalized care and attention to detail, I don't know what is.

Terri is always so flexible with scheduling and timing and takes great pictures/video to share with us when we return. To top everything off, she logs daily journal entries on how the cats were that day, what fun they had and what trouble they got into – such a personalized touch that makes us smile to read when we get home.

We love knowing that our kitties are in excellent hands and receive the love we'd give them and more, while we're away. Without a doubt, Terri is the best. Would highly highly recommend her services, she's a pet sitting life saver!
